an undetermined number of troops practiced firing with antitank guns and bazookas at the firing ranges in Jagen (forest section) Nos 67 and 102. In the late evening [] about 500 to 600 troops, including officers, with full field pack were assembled around 3 large fires in Jagen No 67. Before the fires began, several heavy detonations were heard, with reddish flames darting up 6 to 8 meters high and the troops lined up 250 meters from the fire. Troops wearing black-bordered crimson epaulets continually received field training in the restricted areas west of the Kummerdorf-Sperenberg railroad line. It was noted, that the training included unusually much theoretical instruction.

the Eisenbahnpionier Kaserno was occupied by about 2,000 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets. The occupation strength continually increased between 4 and 17 October. Several 6-wheel armored personnel carriers and van-like vehicles with trailers were seen through the open doors of several vehicle sheds.

5. Soviet documents obtained in the Artillerie Kaserno in Kummerdorf-firing range on 6 September included an envelope addressed to a soldier [] postmarked 13 April 1953, examined by Censorship Office [] stamped [] and mailed from the Vinnitsa Oblast, and a slip of paper with addresses in the USSR.

6. On [] the barracks installation at Schunke Lake and the Heege camp were occupied by a total of about 1,500 troops wearing black-bordered black epaulets and, a few, red-bordered black epaulets. The occupation strength had slightly increased between 8 and 19 October. [] However, [] the belief that a unit may have entered the installation by road. Between 8 and 19 October, up to 120 troops were repeatedly seen drilling.

7. On [] the Eisenbahnpionier Kaserno was occupied by about 800 troops. On [] [] observed 6 x 85-mm AA guns at the gun parking lot. The guns, as well as 12 trucks parked behind the guns, were covered by tarpaulins. [] they had arrived during the preceding night. Five heavy radio trucks on special trailers were under a lean-to roof, about 150 meters from the gun parking lot. On [] all quartering buildings were lighted after nightfall.
